

Differential genes detected by modeling gene-module individual effect independently

Histogram of the differences of log fold changes between control and case.

Differential genes detected by modeling gene-module individual effect, and sharing hyper prior for variances.

Histogram of the differences of log fold changes between control and case.

